MRS. FRANCY HOSTESS

WHITE RIBBONERS HONOR MEMORY OF NEIL DOW—ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Mrs. Ella Francy, 308 Kenwood street, was hostess to the members of the W. C. T. U. on Friday afternoon. The program was given in memory of Neal Dow, "father of prohibition." A brief history of his life was intensely interesting.

Hon. Neal Dow and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, the distinguished American poet, were boys together, Portland, Maine, being the birthplace of both of these famous men.

When Neal Dow was a young man he was a guest at a banquet held by the volunteer fire brigade of Portland. A man who disliked the temperance principles gave the following toast: "Brandy and water; water for the fire, brandy for the firemen." Mr. Dow responded wittily, closing his speech with the words, "Brandy and water; water extinguishes the fire and brandy the firemen."

Through his influence the department finally abandoned liquor at its banquets.

Wherever men of enlightenment are laboring for the betterment of the race, there the name of Neal Dow is the household word.

He had the ability to foresee what must be done with the saloon and its attendant evils if civilization is to reach the point which idealists wish it to gain.

That foresight of a man a half century ago told him what every reformer everywhere sees to be true today, that to legalize and make respectable by such legalization the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is erecting a bar to prevent the accomplishment of the highest and best in citizenship, as well as individual life.

And Neal Dow had the courage to undertake the work of convincing men that his view was the right one. He had the determination to persist despite the obstacles which would have disheartened a less courageous man. He was logical enough to be convinced that there could be no underlying necessity for a trade that worked such evil, and now science is demonstrating that he was right.

When he inaugurated the movement it was opposed by the best scientific and medical thought of the times. Now that same best medical and scientific thought endorses his position. Then business believed itself to be dependent in great measure upon the existence and continuance of the traffic in alcoholic stimulants; now business knows that it is only injured by it and every dollar that goes into the till of the rumseller is withdrawn from the channels of legitimate business.

Today we are witnessing the triumph of the principles for which Neal Dow stood, for in the past six months the number of prohibition states has doubled. If we do as well in the next six months, we will have the required number—thirty-six—for a ratification of a prohibition amendment to the federal constitution.

A business session was also continued from the annual meeting held March 5th. The general officers as elected for the following year are:

President, Mrs. Ruby J. Smart.
Vice-Pres., Mrs. Mary L. Moore.
Cor. Secy., Mrs. Opal Greenwalt.
Rec. Secy., Mrs. Louise Morton.
Treasurer, Mrs. Nannie Palmer.

The vice-presidents of churches and superintendents of various departments recommended by the official board and ratified by the union for the following year are as follows:

Evangelistic, Mrs. H. E. Loveless.
Anti-Narcotics, Mrs. Waltz.
Flower Mission, Mrs. Cora Pettit.
Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Butterfield.
Legislation, Mrs. Mary L. Moore.
Literature, Mrs. A. Frank.
Parliamentary Law, Mrs. Ruby J. Smart.
Purity, Mrs. Ada S. Burns.
Press, Mmes. Loveless and Smart.
Open-Air Meetings, Mrs. W. E. Hartley.
Mothers' Meetings, Mrs. P. Keim.
Music, Miss Olive Marsh.
Scientific Temperance Instruction, Mrs. A. M. Brooks.
Social, Mrs. Nannie Palmer and Miss Goff.
Sunday Schools, Mrs. Dungan.
Y. P. B. So., Mrs. Flora Lemon.
Registrar, Mrs. Opal Greenwalt.

Vice-presidents for churches as follows:

First M. E., Mrs. Laura Marsh.
Baptist, Mrs. John Ward.
Christian, Miss Mary Chester.
Congregational, Mrs. Willisford.
Presbyterian, Mrs. Colvin.
Adventist, Mrs. A. Frank.
W. Glendale M. E., Mrs. Lucy Durham.

Elaborate refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her charming daughter.

The meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks at the home of the vice-president, Mrs. Mary L. Moore, 116 West Fifth street.

The parliamentary law class will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Grist, 210 Colorado boulevard.

OPAL GREENWALT,
Corresponding Secretary.

MAKES SUGGESTION

J. F. LILLY OF GLENDALE OFFERS PLAN TO SAVE THE PEOPLE MONEY

Mr. J. F. Lilly has submitted to the county efficiency board a valuable suggestion which should result in the saving of thousands of dollars annually to the people of Los Angeles county.

He suggests that the title companies shall agree on a standard form for mortgages, trust deeds and other similar papers. At present there are only slight differences in the forms recommended and used by the various companies. The county recorder should thereupon have books of record printed containing these same standard forms.

At present every instrument that is recorded is laboriously written out by long hand from start to finish by copyists. It requires a small army of assistants in the recorder's office to do this copying. Under the proposed system fully three-fourths of the labor could be dispensed with. The copyists would only have to copy into the records the written portion of the instruments. The cost of recording papers in many cases could be cut in two or three. Take a trust deed, for example: The average trust deed contains about 2200 printed words. Not over 200 words, as a rule, are written into the instrument when it is prepared. The county charges ten cents per hundred words for copying these instruments. On this basis there would be a saving of approximately $2.20 on every trust deed that is recorded, if the 2200 words were printed into the record instead of having to be written out in long hand.

There are other advantages in the proposed system:

The number of volumes of the county records is growing rapidly. It would not require half so many books to contain the same records. Less room would also be required.

Then again, the process of looking up the record of an instrument would be much simplified because one could pass over the printed portion, knowing that it was of the standard form, and direct his attention to the written portions which contain the information usually sought.

AILEEN PREEMAN HOSTESS

On Friday evening of this week Miss Aileen Preeman of 1431 West Third street, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Richardson D. White, gave a party to about fifteen young friends. Of course it was a St. Patrick's party and the decorations were in green and white, both in flowers and the dainty refreshments. The evening was spent in playing jolly games, dancing and music, and a good time was enjoyed by all. Among those present were Misses Margaret Gregg, Helen McMullin, Rebecca Gregg, Marian Monroe, Frances Peckham, Eloise Seaman, and Messrs. Merle Eckles, Lawrence Davis, William Moore, Mattison McNutt, Chauncey Livingston, Wayne Smith, Tom McGowan and Morse Preeman.

DEMAND FOR ORANGES

Some kinds of fruit become so common that they are not sought for, but the everywhere presence of the orange does not make it unpopular. Everybody, anytime, is ready and glad to accept an orange. This truth is being illustrated very forcibly today, Orange Day, when almost every person you meet is carrying an orange. Oranges are a wholesome and delicious fruit, never growing so popular that they become unpopular.

MEDICAL CONVENTION

ADVENTIST PHYSICIANS OF THE PACIFIC COAST TO HOLD CONVENTION

LOMA LINDA, March 20.—A medical convention of all Seventh Day Adventist physicians on the Pacific coast, from the Canadian line to the Mexican border, will be held at the Loma Linda sanitarium and College of Medical Evangelists here, from March 19 to 23. The annual meeting of the College of Medical Evangelists will be held March 24, but it is probable that most important questions will be left for consideration next fall in connection with the autumn council of the North American division conference committee, which is to be held on the coast.

Standardization of Adventist sanitariums and medical training schools and efficiency and economy in operation will be among the subjects discussed at the convention. Representatives of all Adventist medical institutions on the coast will attend, including Paradise valley sanitarium, Glendale sanitarium, St. Helena sanitarium, Portland sanitarium and the Walla Walla sanitarium. Elder I. H. Evans, president of the North American division conference, with headquarters in Washington, D. C.; Elder E. E. Andross, president of the Pacific Union conference, and H. W. Miller, M. D., of Washington, D. C., secretary of the medical missionary department of the North American division conference, also will be there. Prof. Frederick Griggs, N. Z. Town, W. W. Eastman, all of Washington, D. C.; C. W. Flaiz of Walla Walla, president of the North Pacific Union conference; Elder H. S. Shaw of Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, president of the West Canadian conference, and the presidents of the eight conferences in California, Arizona and Utah, and of the Nevada mission, also are expected.

Dr. David Paulson, ex-president of the National Anti-Cigarette League, medical superintendent of Hinsdale sanitarium, Chicago, and editor of the Life Boat magazine, will submit a paper on "The Blueprint of Our Medical Missionary Work." The following subjects also will be presented: "The Education of Physicians," Dr. Newton Evans, medical superintendent Loma Linda sanitarium and College of Medical Evangelists; "The Training of Nurses," Dr. Julia White; "Dietetic Reforms for Seventh Day Adventists," Elder W. C. White, St. Helena; "The Place of Dispensary Work in Our Missionary Activities," Dr. A. H. Larson; "Therapeutics," Dr. A. W. Truman; "Schools of Health; City and Field Work by Our Sanitariums," Dr. Belle Wood Comstock; "Our Institutions from a Scientific Standpoint," Dr. W. B. Holden, Portland; "Efficiency in Our Sanitarium Work," Dr. George Thomason; "The Support of Workers," Dr. D. H. Kress.

Among Seventh Day Adventist physicians who will be present will be: George K. Abbott, Pomona; Cora R. Abbott, Pomona; F. F. Abbott, Upland; T. J. Allen, Tacoma; Robert A. Buchanan, Lodi; C. A. Burrows, Los Angeles; M. T. Clark, Temple, Okla.; Belle Wood Comstock, Glendale; D. D. Comstock, Glendale; T. J. Evans, Loma Linda; B. E. Fullmer, Los Angeles; Lyra H. George, Loma Linda; W. A. George, Loma Linda; Dorothy Barbaugh, Santa Ana; G. A. Hare, Fresno; P. F. Haskell, Long Beach; H. J. Hoare, Nashville, Tenn.; W. B. Holden, Portland, Ore.; Wm. J. Johnson, National City; M. M. Kay, St. Helena; P. S. Kellogg, Manila, P. I.; George E. Klingerman, Sanitarium, Cal.; A. H. Larson, Walden, Colo.; J. R. Leadsworth, Glendale; B. N. MacLafferty, Aberdeen, Wash.; John D. Reith, College Place, Wash.; N. C. MacLafferty, Winlock, Wash.; Mayme MacLafferty, Aberdeen, Wash.; L. J. Otis, Norwalk; H. F. Rand, Glendale; E. H. Risley, Loma Linda; Orville Rockwell, Fortuna; F. M. Rossiter, Portland, Ore.; W. A. Ruble, Loma Linda; A. J. Sanderson, Berkeley; Mary Anderson, Springfield, Mass.; bie W. Simpson, Long Beach; W. H. Smith, Long Beach; Lillis W. Starr, San Francisco; George W. Thomason, Los Angeles; H. W. Vollver, Forest Grove, Ore.; T. S. Whitelock, San Diego; William W. Worster, Alhambra; Silas Yarnell, Spokane, Wash.

UNCHANGEABLE RULE

NEWS RESERVES THE RIGHT TO PRINT MATTER NOT PREVIOUSLY GIVEN TO PUBLIC

For the past sixteen years the management of the Evening News has adhered to the very strict rule of not publishing reading matter that had already been placed before the people of his community by being given space in other newspapers or in circular letters. The evening News must have the reading matter first or not at all, unless it is paid for matter.

This is merely a business proposition and has worked out nicely, although it does not always suit some peeved little souls who would like to see their pet sayings chewed over and over to their own gratification. If you have something good you wish published in the Evening News, put it in our way first and if the article is at all reasonable, it will be given space, but if you do not care to give it to The News first, just be contented with having your article published in any old way you please, for the Evening News prefers to fill up with something that even a very few people have not had a chance to read.

No fault being found, only a declaration of principles clearly stated.

ORANGE DAY SONG

(By Samuel Parker)

Globes of beauty, round and golden,
Which in loveliness outshines
All the fabled wealth and olden
Ever taken from the mines;
Mines that starved the souls of mortals
Through the passing centuries;
Paradise now opes its portals—
Yonder! See the Orange Trees!

Climbing half way up the mountain,
In the valleys all, behold
Opening up a pleasure fountain,
Grand Mosaic—see unrolled.
Oh, the fragrant orange flowers,
Nestling in the ever green,
Far surpass "Araby's bowers"
When by wildest "poet" seen.

Orange blossoms, what more fitting
To adorn Virginia's brow
For the final touches sitting
E'er she takes the wedding vow?
Orange ranch and dearest husband,
Ample room for wedded bliss,
In the golden, sunny Southland
Camp in opening such as this.

Gold that's mined has dross abundant;
Must be smelted and refined.
Golden oranges, redundant,
Feed both stomach and the mind.
Golden wealth the orange offers,
Health and happiness combines;
Later on it fills your coffers
With the yellow from the mines.

Sunbeams are forever playing
Hide and seek in orange grove;
Any wonder here we're staying—
Wonder this the land we love?
Glad the stranger we are greeting,
Gladly we invite to stay—
Must you go? Then good-bye, eating
Oranges with us today.

PIONEER CLUB

Mrs. John Andre of Pioneer drive entertained the Pioneer Thimble club on Wednesday afternoon with a St. Patrick's day party. Ferns, Shamrock and other greens tastefully dressed the rooms and table and the dainty refreshments bore out the same color scheme. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in art needlework and conversation. Those present were Mrs. Raymond Hoagland, Mrs. Chas. Van Dyke, Mrs. Pierre V. Potter, Mrs. Whittaker, Mrs. Reginald Chappell, Mrs. Ira D. Vinton, Mrs. Henry Wilson, Mrs. Brubaker, Miss Albers and the hostess.

MUSIC SECTION MEETING

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB SECTION INTRODUCES TALENTED YOUNG VIOLINIST

On Tuesday afternoon the music section of the Tuesday afternoon club held another of their popular open meetings which was one of the best this year. There was a very good attendance and a very appreciative one.

Mrs. Frank Arnold, who is one of the enthusiastic members, charmed her audience with her wonderfully sweet and sympathetic voice, which showed to advantage in Rubenstein's "O, Fair and Sweet and Holy," also in Mary Turner Salter's "Remembrance." Mrs. Legge sang sweetly and with much expression, a group of Mary Turner Salter's little love songs, which were charming.

Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, the well known local elocution teacher and reader, moved her audience first with laughter and then with tears with her splendid reading of Dr. Bagley's "How Ruby Played." In response to round after round of applause Mrs. Sloan told in a few well chosen words the effect of this wonderful selection in aiding her to choose her life work, and paid a very fitting tribute to her mother who was also a reader of much ability.

Mrs. John R. Barrows rendered a piano solo by a Russian composer in her usual artistic manner. Short and very interesting papers were read by Mrs. Paul Ward and Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman on the American composer, Mary Turner Salter, and the Russian opera, which were splendid. Also the report of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, the musical president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, on the musical side notes of the convention, was very fine.

At this meeting the music section introduced Miss Susine Wessels, the violinist, a charming young lady and a decidedly artistic musician. Her soulful playing touched the hearts of all. This earnest young violinist expects to remain in Glendale and the music lovers here welcome her most heartily. It is a privilege to have such musicians in our midst and the music section and their chairman, Mrs. Freeman Kelley, are glad to meet and welcome musicians in this community, and are doing all in their power to encourage only the best and highest in music.

GOOD TEMPLARS MEET

The Good Templars Lodge, No. 46, met Friday evening at Odd Fellows hall, Third and Isabel. O. W. Blain, Grand Chief Templar of California and Mr. Clarence Moore of Washington, Past Grand Secretary, were the distinguished visitors of the evening. Each gave an interesting and helpful talk about Good Templary. One candidate was initiated and a social was planned, announcement of which will be made later.

Mrs. Fuller favored the company with a piano solo, and the lodge paper, "The Bugle Call," was read by Miss Alice Watson. After a short business session, J. P. Fanset, captain of the losing side in the recent contest, informed all that a "feed" was awaiting in the banquet hall. Preparations had been made so quietly that few of the winning side knew what was being planned. The "feed" was enjoyed and games were played until a late hour. All separated to meet again April 2.

MR. HAVILAND LOST

F. W. Haviland, who resides at 213 El Bonita avenue, Tropico, disappeared from his place of business at 709 South Olive street, Los Angeles, Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and has not been heard of since. His people are very anxious about him, fearing he may have met with foul play. The Los Angeles police have his description and are looking for him. Mr. Haviland is five feet eight inches in height, weighs 175 pounds and is forty-eight years old.

TROPICO NEWS NOTES

N. C. BURCH WRITES INTERESTING LETTER OF HIS TRIP TO FORMER HOME

N. C. Burch, city clerk, left for his former home in Jefferson City, Missouri, Tuesday, where he will remain several weeks visiting relatives and many friends. He will be the guest of his brother, Oscar G. Burch president of the First National Bank of Jefferson City. The following descriptive letter of Mr. Burch will be read with interest by his legion of friends who wish him a pleasant visit among his old time friends and associates.

Amarillo, Texas, Mar. 15, 1915.

Dear Folks: I find that I am routed from Albuquerque via the Texas Panhandle and Pecos valley line to Kansas City instead of Los Vegas, Trinidad and the La Junta line. I am thus avoiding the cold and dangers of delay of Ratoun pass.

Breakfast this morning came with the break of day at Clovis, N. M. Nine miles eastward we crossed the state line into Texas. They have a wonderful penchant for notable names for their stopping places out here in this boundless prairie—level land, hemmed by the horizon only—a cattle country of immense expanse. Here and there the plow and seeder are in motion, but for the most part it has the appearance of a grazing, ranch country. Bunches of cattle in large number are numerous. Centers of the cattle trade are the railway stations on the line named Bovine, Hereford, etc.

Habitations are scattered—are ranch houses at wide distances apart well out upon the horizon. At intervals of ten or more miles along the line are clusters of jacals, one or two room houses, and "dugouts," pretentious dwellings are few. Its an old country in a new setting; treeless and birdless—who would live in such a land? Apparently but few do, and those that do are not home. In only two places have the inmates come to our notice, in one of which were a number of children, in the other a pair of goats.

The sky is flecked with clouds and the earth with their shadows. It is a veritable dreamland—just escaping from the dark domain of solitude.

Conspicuous for their absence the country through are running streams of living water. For a half an hour or more we have been creeping up the bed of a dry arroyo to a place called Clear Creek, quite clearly so named from its being near a creek clear of water.

At Canadian we cross the Canadian river, a flood water stream that heads in eastern New Mexico, crosses the panhandle of Texas and pursues its turbid course on through Oklahoma and emptying into the Arkansas.

Some thirty miles northerly from the Canadian our track crosses another state line—that of Texas and Oklahoma—into a country far and away ahead of any in prosperous appearance our eyes have looked upon since leaving the coast. The numerous grain elevators at every station are eloquent witnesses of "something doing." I am mailing this at Waynoka, Oklahoma, at 7:00 p. m. Am feeling very well, and will reach the old home state at 7:35 tomorrow morning and be with the old home folks for the noon meal.

Remember me to kind neighbors and friends.

DAD.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White of Norrie, Colo., who have been visiting in Southern California and the exposition at San Diego, and who were the guests of Mrs. David H. Imler at Palm Villa, left for San Francisco Friday evening, where after a ten days' visit they will return to their home in Colorado, stopping en route to visit in Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Andrew P. Hill Jr. and daughter Miss Birdella Hill, arrived from San Jose Thursday and will be the house guests of Mrs. Hill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. McKenney, of Eulalia street, for several weeks.

WILL SOBER UP

A man giving the name of Jas. Tracey was picked up by a member of the Glendale police force on Friday night. He was in a decidedly intoxicated condition and was taken before Judge Whomes this morning, where he received ten days in the county jail.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

It has been mentioned that in March, 1914, the enrollment in the Glendale city schools was 1110 and now it is over 1300. The school enrollment has been increasing at that ratio for the past several years. The enrollment in the Glendale Union high school is more than 400.

HOW TO GET THERE

"Two gay frogs, from inland bogs,
Had spent the night in drinking;
As morning broke and they awoke
While yet their eyes were blinking,
A farmer's pail came to the swale
And caught them quick as winking;
Ere they could gather scattered senses,
Or breathe a prayer for past offenses,
The granger grave—that guileless man—
Had dumped them in the milkman's can;
The can filled up, the cover down,
They soon were started off to town;
The luckless frogs began to quake
And sober up on cold milkshake;
They quickly found their breath will stop
Unless they swim upon the top.
They swam for life and kicked and swam
Until their weary eyes grew dim,
Their muscles ached, their breath grew short,
And, gasping, spoke one weary sport:
'Say, dear old scout, it's pretty tough
To die so young, but I've enough
Of kicks for life. No more I'll try it,
I was not raised on milk for diet.'
'Tut, tut, my lad,' the other cried,
'A frog's not dead until he dies;
Let's keep on kicking, that's my plan,
We may yet see outside this can.'
'No use, no use,' faint heart replied,
Turned up his toes and gently died.
The braver frog, undaunted still,
Kept kicking with undaunted will,
Until, with joy too great to utter,
He found he'd churned a lump of butter,
And, climbing on that chunk of grease,
He floated round in quiet peace.

MORAL:

When times are hard—no trade in town—
Don't get discouraged and go down;
But struggle still—no murmur utter,
A few more kicks may bring the butter."

THE SENSIBLE BUSINESS MAN

Many of us have noticed a large sleek Newfoundland dog lying in the gateway of his master's home when along would come a little snarling cur, showing his teeth and discontentedly growling at the composure of his big friend who paid no attention to the dissatisfied grumblings of the snarler.

So it is with the reliable business or professional man; he pays no attention to the snarls and insinuations of the grumbler who would have the entire world made over according to his own liking.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Regular services will be resumed tomorrow with preaching by the pastor both morning and evening. At the close of the Bible school a time of "decision" will be given for all the members of the school, when it is hoped a number will come into the church. Baptisms will be administered at the close of the evening service. The week's campaign of revival has been very successful, a large number of those who took the stand in the Brown and Curry meetings coming out in confession or statement. The union meetings have been a great source of spiritual revival to the entire membership.

ST. MARKS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Henderson, superintendent; 11, morning worship, subject, "The Divine Requirement." 12:15, class meeting; 3, Junior Epworth League, Eula May president, subject, "Paul's Rule of Giving." 6:30 Epworth League, Miss Lilly A. Smith, president, topic, "David, God's Method of developing leaders." led by Miss Marjorie Singleton; 7:30 evening worship, subject, "The church and the new converts."

At the morning and the evening services new members will be received. Brother Hoskyn and Sister Cook are both ill and need our prayers. Miss Lilly Smith is the new president of the Epworth League. Shake her hand and pledge her your co-operation. There is a place for every man, woman and child in the Sunday school. We welcome those coming to our services, and will endeavor to make the Sabbath a blessing to all. "Brighten the corner where you are." Come to the services prayerfully. Bring your bible.

FAMILY GATHERING AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

At the First Congregational church on the corner of Third street and Central avenue a "family gathering" of the members and friends of the church and congregation will be held tomorrow. It is expected that every member will be present. Strangers and visitors will be especially welcome.

9:45—The Sunday school assembles at this hour.

11:00—Sermon topic, "The Greatest Thing in the World."

6:30—C. E. meeting.

7:30—Evangelistic meeting; sermon theme, "What Is a Christian?"

The attendance and interest at prayer meeting was the largest in the history of the church. People are already joining the church and many more are planning to do so in the immediate future.

Additional chairs have been purchased for the new Sunday school rooms.

The Woman's Missionary society met with Mrs. S. R. Frazee, 1435 West Broadway, on Thursday afternoon. The attendance was large. Mrs. Turk of Los Angeles gave a most instructive talk on "Albania." The hostess served delightful refreshments.

GLENDALE'S FIRST GOSPEL TEAM

At the First Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Third and Dayton Court, Bede A. Johnson, Pastor.

9:30 Sunday school, Thomas W. Watson, superintendent. Every member of the church should be there.

11, morning worship, subject, "Grace for continuance." Baptism and reception of new members.

3 p.m., Junior League, Mrs. Burns superintendent.

6:30 p. m., Epworth League rally, leader, Herbert Matthisen. All young people of the church and friends are urged to be present.

7:30, evening worship. Special music by the choir and male quartet. Glendale's first gospel team, 25 to 30 men will have charge of the service and will give their experience. Every man in Glendale who does not attend some other church ought to hear these business and professional men tell what God has done for them.

Wednesday, prayer meeting. We had at least 300 in attendance last Wednesday night. We confidently expect that many or more this coming Wednesday evening. Do not forget the prayer meeting.

BAPTIST CHURCH

It is confidently expected that the services of Sunday at the local Baptist church will reach high tide as a result of the Brown and Curry revival. The attendance to be in proportion with the first prayer meeting since the tabernacle meetings should more than fill every available corner of the auditorium and what counts for more than numbers, a spirit of overcoming revival should sweep everyone heavenward.

Mr. C. H. Cunningham will be in charge of the choir and some of the best Brown and Curry hymns will be rendered, a few of which have never so far been sung in this community.

At the morning service Pastor Troy will preach on the motto of the tabernacle, displayed at the front of the pulpit, "Saved to Serve." An opportunity will be extended to recent converts to line up for church membership, and the ordinance of baptism will be administered.

The evening service will be rather unique. No definite order of service is arranged, but all sails will be set to catch the heavenly breezes. The pastor will deliver his well-known address on "The Great Legacy." This message is especially helpful to new converts. All who have copies of the Brown and Curry song book are urged to bring them to the services without fail.

ALBANIA DESCRIBED

The Missionary society of the Congregational church held a most interesting meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frazee, 1435 West Broadway. Among other items of the program was a thrilling story by Mrs. Turck of Los Angeles, telling of the trip she and Rev. Turck made to the interior of Albania. Mrs. Turck was the first white woman ever to enter the fastnesses of that country, which was at that time under Turkish rule, though now it is an independent state. There were no roads in the whole land, only narrow trails, and all travel was by horseback. There were not hotels and the only place they could sleep was in the lofts over the barns where relay horses were kept. The trip was made with a couple of missionaries and under a Turkish guard and every step of their way was watched by envoys of the Turkish government, as it was feared that they were spies. In fact, the whole story was one of hardship and terror and was most interesting as well as instructive to her hearers.

Aunty Dorothy—"How many commandments are there, Johnny?" Johnny (glibly)—"Ten." Aunt Dorothy—"And now suppose you were to break one of them." Johnny (tentatively)—"Then there'd be nine."—Exchange.

"Did you fall?" said a man, rushing to the rescue of a woman who slipped on the icy pavement. "Oh, no," she said, "I just sat down to see if I could find any four-leaf clovers."—Atchison Globe.

Mr. Grim and family, 425 Cedar street, left Glendale this morning to spend a month at Santa Monica enjoying beach life.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Joseph of 122 South Central avenue have gone to Artesia, where they will visit their son over Sunday.

Miss Angie Zerr of 141 Cedar street left the first part of the week for Fresno, where she will visit for a couple of weeks with friends.

Mrs. James Owen of Bay City, Mich., has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Herman West, 1427 Hawthorne street, and returned home Friday morning.

Miss Barbara Askeland was a guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Askeland, at their ranch in Burbank Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Inez Harrison went to Los Angeles Saturday to spend Sunday with her friend, Miss Ore Brooks of Fifty-fourth and Vermont streets, who will entertain at a dinner party.

Glendale friends have had word that Mr. and Mrs. Barnett and Mrs. Barlow, who lived at 204 Orange street, have reached their home near Galesburg, Ills., safely.

The ladies of the G. T. club expect to have a matinee party on Thursday afternoon of next week, at which time they will attend the Burbank theater in Los Angeles to see "Within the Law."

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shattuck of 821 South Central avenue entertained with a dinner party one evening recently for Mr. and Mrs. David Hamilton of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. J. W. Nethery of Maple avenue, Glendale.

Mrs. Lawrence Ellis of 541 South Kenwood street attended the monthly luncheon in Los Angeles today given by the Theta alumni of Southern California, Mrs. Ellis being of that Smith college fraternity in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hamilton of Louisville, Ky., are visiting at the home of Mrs. J. W. Nethery of 1210 Maple avenue. They will leave for San Diego on Monday, where they will spend some time before returning home.

Rev. C. E. Hoskyn of 1504 West Sixth street is quite ill at his home, suffering with an attack of bronchial pneumonia. His condition seemed somewhat improved this morning, however, and his friends are hoping that he will soon be recovered.

Mrs. E. R. Naudain and Mrs. F. H. Vesper were Glendale guests at an elaborate St. Patrick's luncheon in Los Angeles given by Mrs. Guy Harn one day this week. Everything was carried out in the St. Patrick idea of green and white, even the table cover being of green and gold, and the place cards and favors were all in keeping.

Mrs. C. W. Anderson of 200 North Louise street gave a pretty little farewell luncheon today for Mrs. Merlend Bryant, who leaves soon to make her home in San Diego. Decorations were of yellow and white and a dainty three-course luncheon was served, covers being laid for Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Arthur Winterskill, Mrs. E. D. Yard, Mrs. C. H. Heinan and Mrs. Anderson.

HAPPY LIVING

The essence of happy living is never to find life dull, never to feel the ugly weariness which comes of overstrain; to be fresh, cheerful, leisurely, sociable, unhurried, well balanced. It seems to me impossible to be these things unless we have time to consider life a little, to deliberate, to select, to abstain.—A. C. Benson.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyes will return to Glendale for an indefinite time after visiting friends in Humboldt City, Cal.

THREE LUMBERMEN ARE GIVEN PRISON SENTENCES

Three Oregon lumbermen, who, finding themselves in Los Angeles out of work and out of money, took to burglary, were Friday sentenced to prison terms by Superior Judge Willis. The men were Edward Murray, William Miller and Harold Fuller. Fuller was sentenced to five years in Folsom and Murray and Miller to two and one-half and three years, respectively, in San Quentin. The crime of which the men were convicted was the daylight robbery of the home of A. Lewis in Los Angeles.

MATURITY OF ORANGES

The Tulare County Protective association adopted resolutions favoring the passage of a legislative bill to fix the standard of maturity for the shipment of oranges. The resolutions recommended that state standards be the same as federal regulations for this year, which are understood to be the basis of one part citric acid to eight parts soluble solids.

VALUE OF MIND TRAINING

Observation confirms the idea that to repeat a mental effort at the same hour each day for a stated time, enters one upon the same practice without premeditation, as the proper period approaches for its performance.

As a common instance, the habit well formed of winding one's watch at a given hour serves to fix that hour in mind as the time for repeating the operation, with scarcely a breach of program. This is because the mechanism of the brain is such that every mental process acts upon the cells in a way to make them act automatically in the repetition of certain lines of thought. In this course indelible impressions are made which remain to the latest days of one's life. Thus thoughts passing through the brain leave a faithful record of an entire past life, over which one holds scarcely any control.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

The man that imagines friendship will borrow money at the bank is doomed to disappointment.

Your friend may lend you his shovel, but he expects you to return his hoe in good condition.

Your friend may inquire after your wife's health, but it does not follow that you can turn your chickens into his garden.

If you get sick you don't expect the world to stop moving right along.

If you are in want, that is nothing to the people who have plenty.

If you are in trouble, that is nothing to the people who have something to rejoice over.

The world owes you only just what you can earn.

The world owes you room to pass to and fro and space for a grave.

The world's friendship reduces a man to rags as often as it clothes him in fine raiment.

The world's sympathy blisters a man's back as often as it warms his heart.

The world's charity overlooks the crime of a horse thief, but is horror stricken over the stealing of a loaf of bread by an orphan.

The world promises everything and performs only what is convenient.

The man who relies on the honesty of the public instead of the vigilance of the house dog will have no harvest apples for sale.

The man who pauses at each stage of his career for the world to applaud or condemn will become a football for all men to kick.

Expect no friendship to last beyond the moment when you want help.

Expect no sympathy to endure longer than it takes for tears to dry.

Expect no praise from men in the same profession, trade or business. —Exchange.

"But try, I urge—the trying shall suffice; the aim, if reached or not, makes great the life." —Robert Browning.

RUSSIAN SINGERS AND DANCERS WILL VISIT LOS ANGELES

Vaudeville, once considered a cheap form of amusement, has now become a highly organized business, cheap only in the price of admission asked.

Many of the vaudeville acts appearing on the larger circuits carry as much scenery and as many artists as are required by shows giving a whole evening's entertainment. The average dramatic play consists of four or five scenes, with two or three different scenic settings, and for traveling shows about eight people in the cast. This, of course, does not include musical comedy and opera, which naturally have from thirty to fifty people, nor for other metropolitan shows for which admission of over two dollars is charged. But a comparison of the larger vaudeville acts such as the Golden Troupe of Russian singers and dancers, with traveling shows charging a dollar and a half admission, will show that the vaudeville troupe has as many people and costumes and as much scenery as its more pretentious rival.

In the case of the Russian singers and dancers referred to, Gospodin Golden, who brought these artists from Russia, claims that his salary list and traveling expenses are so great that he can secure no adequate return on his investment from any other class of theaters than vaudeville shows. These players have an exclusive contract with one large vaudeville circuit in each section of the country, with B. F. Keith in the East, with Mrs. Castle in Chicago and the Middle West, and with Alex Pantages in the Pacific coast territory. They play for no other theater and in return the theater owners protect them from the competition of cheaper acts of imitative character.

The Golden Troupe is now completing a tour of the Pantages circuit, which will bring them to Los Angeles next week.

"All those in favor of war with England say aye!" "Aye," thundered the members of the Trouble club. "All who are ready to go to the front in the event of war say aye." It was so still you could hear a cough drop.—Roxbury Gazette.

Some people surely make a bad guess when they judge the width of the world by the size of their own back yard.

When it comes to predicting the world's end, no one can beat the man who has spent his last dollar.

To the traveled person, one of the durable satisfactions of life is seeing California several months each year.

SOME TESTED CITRUS FRUIT RECIPES

(Courtesy of Mrs. Wm. Starke, San Bernardino, Cal.)

Lemon Pie—Make pastry and bake crust first. Fill when cold.

Filling—A few gratings and juice of one lemon; one cup sugar, one heaping tablespoon of cornstarch; mix with sugar one pint hot water, pinch of salt, two eggs, whites for frosting. Cook in double cooker until thick and fill crust. Beat your whites very stiff and add one tablespoon sugar, beating again very rapidly for a few moments. Cover pie and brown lightly under blaze.

Orange Filling—A few gratings and juice of two oranges; juice of half of lemon, one small cup sugar, one heaping tablespoon cornstarch, one teacup hot water, salt, two eggs, whites for frosting. Method same as lemon pie.

Orange Tarts—Roll pastry and cut in squares; place one tablespoon of orange paste in center of each square and fold corners to center and bake; when cold spread a powdered sugar icing with lemon flavor on each tart.

Orange Paste—Wash your oranges thoroughly and grind in coarse meat grinder until you have one quart of pulp and juice; place in a vessel over fire with one quart water and cook slowly for sixty minutes, watching closely; add one quart sugar and cook until it becomes very thick, stirring often. This is nice for shortcake by moistening with a little hot water and spreading between layers. Then serve with whipped cream. Or for stuffing dates, covering with fondant makes delicious candy.

Will keep for any length of time and you do not have to seal it.

Lemon Sauce—One cup sugar and juice and gratings of one lemon; one tablespoon cornstarch, two tablespoons butter, one pint boiling water.

Snow—To be served with lemon or orange sauce; one envelope gelatine, one cup sugar, one and half pints water, pinch salt, whites three eggs, lemon flavoring.

Method—Put gelatine to soak in half pint cold water; boil sugar and pint water and add gelatine and let all boil for five minutes; when cool add the stiffly beaten whites of eggs and beat very fast until it is very white and light. You can put in molds or let set in the same vessel and when ready to serve pour your cold sauce over the snow. I prefer to dip it out with a spoon, as it looks then as near like spoons of snow as possible.

Orange Sauce—One cup sugar, the juice of one orange and teaspoon of gratings; juice of half lemon, one tablespoon cornstarch, two tablespoons butter, one pint hot water.

Orange Cake—One cup sugar, half cup butter, two-thirds cup orange juice, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, three eggs well beaten, leaving whites of two for icing.

Method—Cream sugar and butter then add the rest of the ingredients and bake in two layers.

Icing—One and half cups sugar, boiled with half cup hot water until it threads; pour over the stiffly beaten whites of eggs and beat until cool; just before spreading on layers add one tablespoon dry orange gratings or half cup candied orange peel, cut very fine.

Lemon filling for cake. Any white layer cake will do.

One cup sugar, one egg, one lemon, one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon water.

Method—Place dish in vessel of boiling water and let it thicken; when cold spread between layers; use an icing for top.

Orange Puffs—Half cup of sugar, one egg, one cup orange juice, one and three-fourths cups flour; one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon melted butter, pinch of salt.

Method—Put all in mixing pan together and beat it quickly. Then steam in cups half hour; serve hot with orange or lemon sauce; have sauce hot also.

Orange Jelly—Peel and remove seeds, slice thin, place in agate kettle and cover with water; let stand over night, then simmer four hours; strain through four thicknesses of flour sack, using pressure; to each cup of juice add one cup of sugar; when sugar is dissolved, boil rapidly at least 20 minutes; test with spoon and when drip adheres to spoon and hangs together, pour into glasses. The secret in all jelly-making lies in the following: Do not attempt to boil more than enough for five or six glasses at time; use broad dish or pan; boil rapidly 15 or 20 minutes.

Orange Marmalade—Six oranges, three lemons, sliced thin; cover with four quarts cold water and let stand 24 hours; then boil one hour and stand 24 hours longer; then measure equal quantity of sugar and boil one hour. It will jelly almost as you turn it into tumblers.

Lemon Marmalade — Slice twelve lemons very thin; take out seeds; pour over five quarts water and let stand all night; next morning put on in same water and boil until tender enough to mash with spoon; then add six pounds of sugar and boil 40 minutes.

Grapefruit Marmalade — Remove skin and white pith; cut former into shreds and boil until it is tender; meanwhile put into kettle sugar equal in quantity to weight of fruit, and add to it all juice that can be drained from fruit; let this come to boil and skim; then simmer syrup 15 minutes; put in pulp and rind and boil again 15 minutes; put away in tumblers.

Orange, Grapefruit and Lemon Marmalade — Two large grapefruit, six large oranges; four lemons; cut all in very thin slices; add one pint water to each pound fruit; stand 24 hours; boil 20 minutes; stand 24 hours; bring to boil; add eight lbs. sugar; boil until it jellies, about 35 minutes.

Grapefruit Salad — Allow half a grapefruit and a teaspoonful finely cut pimento for each person. Scoop out the pulp, carefully removing all seeds and bits of fibre; chill thoroughly and mix the pimento. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves with French dressing, decorating with pimento cut in fancy shapes.

Orange Bread—One cake of compressed yeast, one teaspoon salt, a quarter cup lukewarm water, two tablespoons sugar, one cup orange juice, one egg yolk, grated rind of two oranges, four cups flour or less, two tablespoons butter.

Soften yeast in water, add butter melted, salt, sugar, egg yolk beaten light, orange juice and rind, then stir in flour for a dough. Knead until dough is smooth and elastic, then cover and set aside until double in bulk; shape in a loaf.

When nearly double in bulk bake one hour; use for plain butter or any variety of cheese or sweet sandwiches, or to serve with cocoa or tea. The bread is good toasted and sprinkled with sugar or spread orange bread, prepared for sandwiches with orange marmalade worked with Neufchatel cheese.

DEFENSES OF PANAMA

The forts of the Dardanelles, armed with Krupp guns of 10-inch diameter, have fallen before the 12-inch and 15-inch guns of the Anglo-French fleet. The battering process is still going on. The warships, preceded by mine sweepers, are making their way into the straits. Soon they will get the range of the remaining forts. These forts will crumble as soon as the duel begins, if the warships are not themselves blown up.

The Panama canal is defended by 14-inch guns, 12-inch dowitzers and one 16-inch gun on the Pacific side. Another 16-inch gun is on its way to the Atlantic fortifications.

How long would the Panama canal be safe against the attack of a dreadnaught of the Queen Elizabeth class, carrying eight 15-inch guns? The secondary defense of the canal would be worthless, because its projectiles could not reach the warship. The single 16-inch gun doubtless would do good service, but it could not be expected to withstand the assault of eight guns almost as powerful as itself.

One British dreadnaught, in short, could destroy the fortifications of the Panama canal, in either the Pacific or the Atlantic.

The Panama canal must depend for its security upon the United States navy, unless the fortifications are greatly strengthened.

The single 16-inch gun at Panama has an effective range of over eleven miles; that is, its shell will pierce any armor plate at that distance. This gun was made in the United States.

Why are not more of these guns made? Is the United States afraid to make them? Or does it rely upon the benevolence of foreign nations as its greatest defense?

Friction with Great Britain is developing in the Atlantic. If the British government persists in destroying American commerce, there can be but one outcome—war between the two countries. Does anyone suppose that Great Britain would be idle at the Panama canal? It has several super-dreadnaughts which might be detached from its North sea fleet, any one of which could destroy the forts at Panama.—Washington Post.
